Subject: Heritage Committee deputation

Andrew

I would like to make a deputation at the next Heritage Committee meeting on August 7.
Please provide me the details of the time and the location.

Please see the deputation below;

The Town Sq., parking lot has black interlocking brick markings indicating the location of parking spaces. During rain and snow, these markings are not very visible. Last year I have asked the Town to find an alternative to painting yellow strips on the brick. They came up with a trial of bollards that mark the parking spots. The bollard pilot was proven to be unsuccessful over the last year of trial. The alternative solution is to go back to the original idea of simply painting yellow lines on the interlocking brick as originally suggested by town staff.

I wanted to know if this line painting initiative would infringe on any heritage guidelines. Would like the Heritage Committee to provide alternative ideas to consider or provide approval for the painted lines on the brick parking surface.

1.0 INTRODUCTION

The Town of Newmarket has requested that Archaeological Research Associates Ltd. (ARA) assist with the evaluation of the cultural heritage value or interest of 171 Church Street according to Ontario Regulation 9/06 (O. Reg. 9/06) to determine if the property is worthy of designation under Part IV of the Ontario Heritage Act (OHA).

2.0 METHOD

This report examines the design of the property, presents its history and describes its context.

2.1 Site Visit

A site visit was conducted on May 16, 2018. ARA recommended in their proposal that “a site visit on the property take place with Permission to Enter (PTE).” However, the Town indicated that PTE for 171 Church Street may not be possible. As such, the site visit was conducted from public property. Given that the site visit was limited to areas of public access (e.g., roadways, intersections, non-private lands, etc.), there is always the possibility that obscured cultural heritage resources may be missed or that heritage attributes may be refined upon closer inspection. PTE also allows for an in-depth review of the building in order to better determine if elements have been installed or modified after the original construction date. The site visit conducted from public property allowed for a review of the façade but did not allow a review of the side and back elevations of the building.

2.2 Research

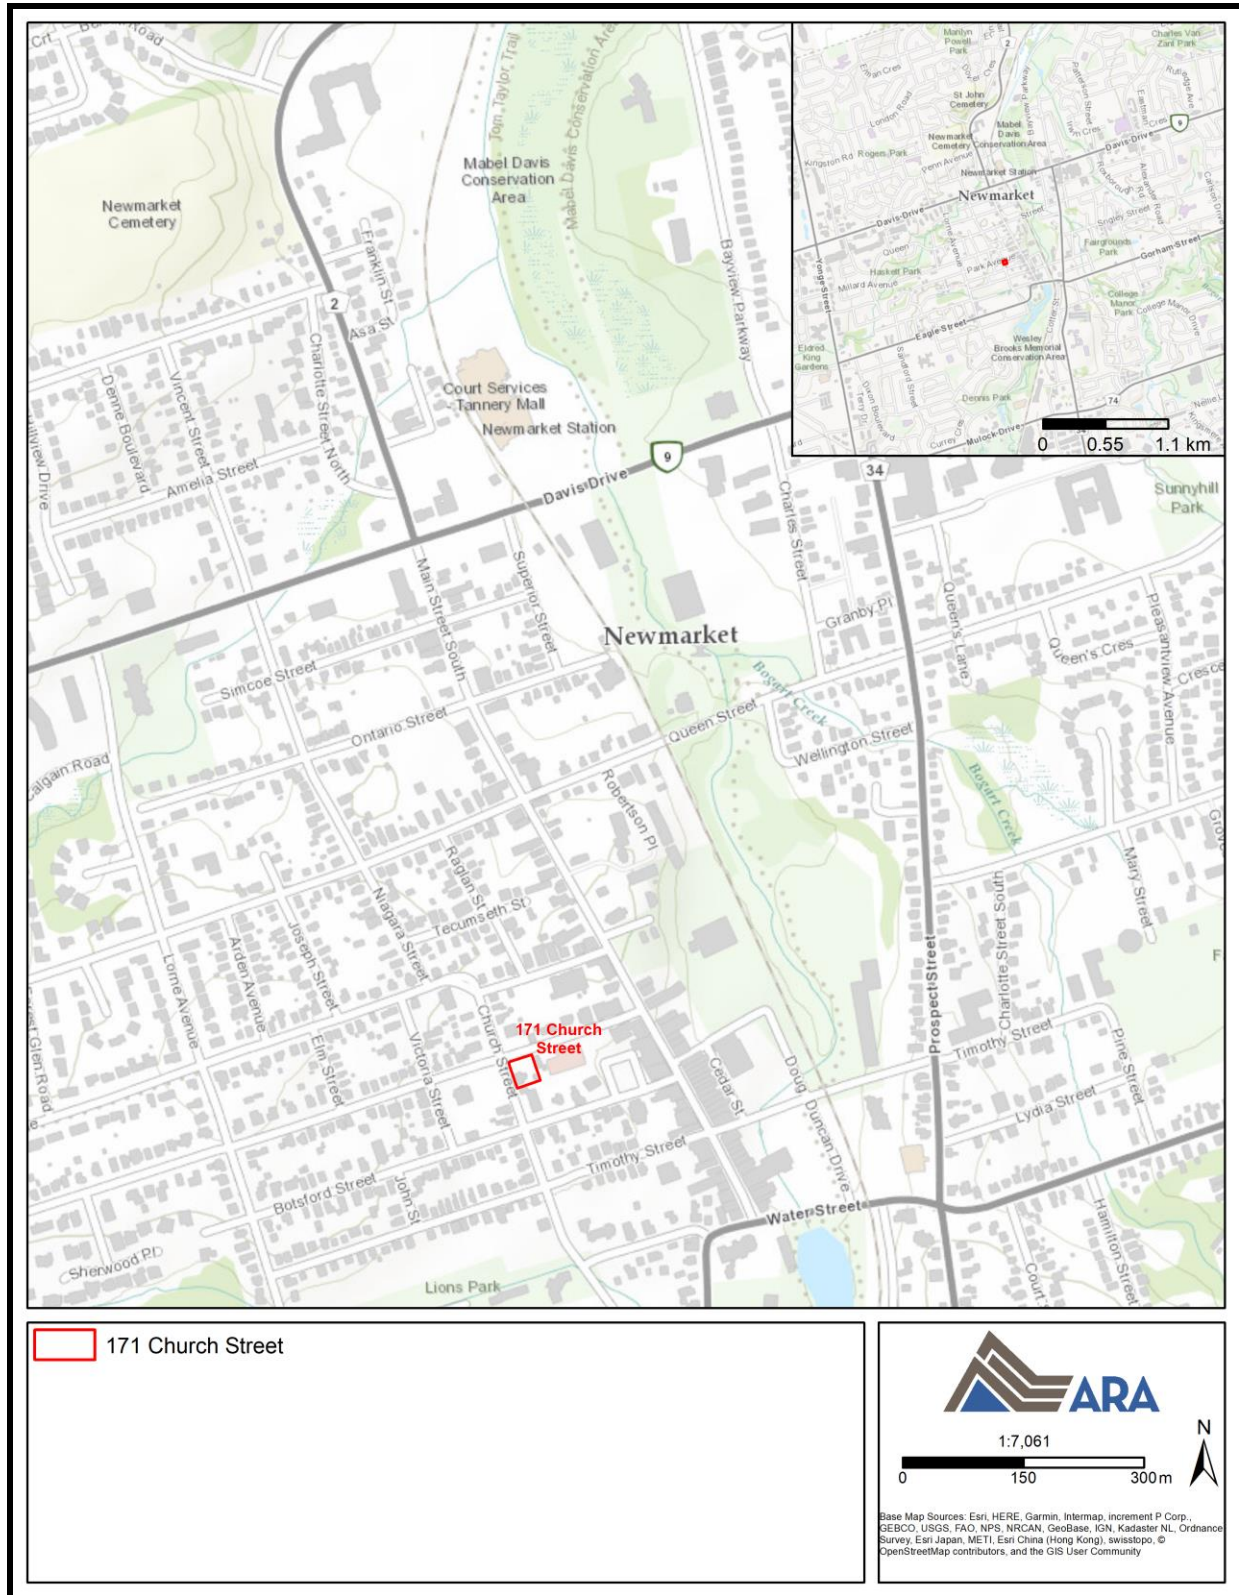

Background information was obtained from historical maps (e.g., illustrated atlases), archival sources (e.g., historical publications and records), and published secondary sources (online and print). Census records and newspapers were also consulted. Tax assessment and collector's rolls were consulted for the property, however records no longer exist for the years 1857–1893, 1895–1904, 1906, 1907, 1931 and 1934 (AO MS 894, Reel 1). Building permits may provide additional details, but time allocated for their consultation was beyond the scope of this report. A fire insurance plan of the Town of Newmarket for the year 1910 (revised version of the 1904 plan) is held by the Western University Archives in London, Ontario, though it is currently lost. Access was sought through the Gore Mutual Insurance office in Cambridge, Ontario, however at the time of writing public access was not granted.

2.3 Method Conclusion

Using the results of the site visit and research detailed above, the cultural heritage value or interest of 171 Church Street is evaluated against the criteria prescribed in O. Reg. 9/06 of the OHA. If the property meets any of the criteria, a Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest (CHVI) is then provided including a list of heritage attributes.

6.0 BACKGROUND INFORMATION

6.1 Architecture or Design

- One-and-a-half storey Gothic Revival style residence (Heritage Resources Centre 2009:9; see Image 1).
- The Gothic Revival architectural style is evident in the cross-gable roof with centrally placed gable and the projecting front gable, both façade gables feature gingerbread and pendants;
 - According to the Ontario Heritage Resources Centre's Ontario Architectural Styles Guide (2009:9) "The Gothic Cottage is probably the most pervasive Ontario residential style prior to 1950."
 - "Not only was the style promoted in the Canadian Farmer in the 1860s, but property tax laws in Upper Canada were based on the number of stories in a house. The gothic 1-1/2 storey cottage allowed for two levels at a cheaper tax rate, with a window in the gothic gable above the entrance door. As the century advanced the pitch of the roofs increased to allow for more living space and to stay within the tax limits (Kyles, 2002; HRC 2009:)."
 - The Gothic Revival style of architecture is often exemplified in buildings that typically have "finely scaled gingerbread trim, pointed arch openings, and sharply pitched gables" as noted in Buildings of Canada (Parks Service 1980:6).
- L-shaped floor plan.
- Appears to be clad in aluminum siding.
- Projecting gable end features a prominent three-bay window (see Image 2 and Image 16) with wood frame detailing including decorative brackets, between which are small shields with cross detail. This type of bay window is considered "Victorian" (Cater 2006).
- Hip roof covered porch with second-storey balcony (see Image 1, Image 3-Image 5, Image 12).
- Steeply-pitched front facing gable features a door opening on the second-storey in the balcony in the gable end (see Image 4).
- Façade with rectangular window openings with shutters, the openings appear to be altered.
- Entryway with transom and sidelights.
- Porch wraps around to the north elevation and is supported by round wooden columns (see Image 3 and Image 5) with a wooden railing.
- Second-storey balcony also enclosed by a wooden railing (see Image 1; Town of Newmarket 2018: 24).
- East elevation (rear) features a secondary window opening with a six-over-window with shutters (see Image 9), as well as one- and two-storey additions (see Image 6-Image 9; view obstructed by fencing when viewed from public lands).
- South elevation features a square window opening with a stained glass window beneath a storm window (see Image 11).
- The Municipal Register of Non-designated Properties – Part I, notes that the house has a stone rubble foundation (Town of Newmarket 2018:24).
- There is a two-storey building located on the rear of the property (currently a garage);
 - Building is of wood frame construction with wood siding.
 - Gambrel roof and projecting eaves and verges to the east side of the property (see Image 8; Municipal Register of Non-designated Properties – Part I 2018:24).

- Was constructed in this location by 1959 (see Map 6).

6.2 History

- Crown Patent for the 190 acres of Lot 94, Concession 1, Township of Whitchurch, York County went to Henry Crone in August 1804 (LRO 65).
- Crone sold the land to Timothy Rogers in December of the same year (LRO 65);
 - Timothy Rogers was an early settler to Newmarket and a founder of the Yonge Street Friends Meeting (Quakers) (Densmore 2000:1).
- Rogers sold 200 acres, which included Lot 94 and part of Lot 95, Concession 1 to Timothy Millard in 1812;
 - The Millard family was an early and prominent family in Newmarket (Carter 2011:24).
 - The Millard family is commemorated in the naming of Millard Street.
- Timothy Millard sold a 15 acre parcel of land to his son Thomas Millard in 1833.
- Thomas Millard sold a 16 acre parcel to Robert H. Smith in 1845;
 - Robert H. Smith was a merchant and operated the “largest dry goods house in the place” (Carter 1990).
- In 1874, William T. Mason et. al. sold Lot 10, Plan 29 to Erastus Jackson.
- Erastus Jackson was a wealthy Newmarket printer (Carter 1991; Elder 1985:26–29);
 - Jackson was born in Merrickville, Grenville County, Ontario on August 29, 1829 (LACAC; Mulvany and Adam 1885:475).
 - Jackson apprenticed at several printers in Ontario between 1845–1853 (LACAC);
 - Jackson, along with E.R. Henderson, purchased the New Era newspaper in 1853 (LACAC; ERA 1906; Elder 1985:27);
 - Jackson became the sole owner of the paper by 1854 (LACAC; ERA 1906; Mulvany and Adam 1885:477).
 - The paper was renamed the Newmarket Era in 1861 (LACAC; Elder 1985:28).
 - Jackson sold the paper to his son Lyman Jackson in 1883 and retired in 1885 (Newmarket Era 1906; LACAC; Carter 1991).
 - Lyman Jackson managed the Newmarket Era until his death in 1934 (LACAC; Carter 1991).
 - Erastus Jackson held various offices in Newmarket, including as a member of municipal council in 1858, Reeve (1871–1876; 1877–1881), Mayor (18980 and 1891), coroner, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, president of the Mechanics Institute, treasurer of the North York Agricultural Society and president of the Canadian Press Association (LACAC; Carter 1991; Mulvany and Adam 1885:477).
 - In 1883, Jackson was appointed Warden of York County (LACAC; Mulvany and Adam 1885:477).
 - Jackson is credited with the purchase of lands for and the development of the Newmarket Fairgrounds and market (Mulvany and Adam 1885:477; Carter 1991).
 - Erastus Jackson owned various properties in the Town of Newmarket;
 - According to the 1901 Census of Canada, Jackson owned 10 properties at that time (LAC 1901b; Image 16).
 - Jackson and his second wife Sophia resided at 171 Church Street, Newmarket in 1901 (LAC 1901b; Image 16);
 - Erastus Jackson died at Newmarket on January 6, 1919 (Elder 1985:29; Image 17).

- Erastus Jackson owned 171 Church Street in 1894, at which point it was valued at $1200 (AO 1894:25);
 - It appears that Erastus Jackson was residing at 171 Church Street in 1894.
- Erastus Jackson sold the property at 171 Church Street to Wilmot C. Lundy in 1911.
- Lundy sold the property to his wife Christina E. Lundy in 1913.
- The executors to the estate of Wilmot C. Lundy sold the property to Lorraine McNally in 1965.
- McNally sold 171 Church Street to Margaret E. Urquhart in 1968.
- Urquhart sold the property to the Town of Newmarket in March of 1971.

- Van Rooyen maintained ownership of the property for 18 years.
- In May 1989, Van Rooyen sold 171 Church Street to Mario and Linda Zalac.

6.3 Context

- Situated within the core of Newmarket, on Church Street, south of Park Avenue, across the street from St. James Presbyterian Church (see Map 6).
- The house is situated close to the road.
- The house is part of a row of historic homes, including Edwardian and Georgian style buildings, all of which have similar set-backs, lot coverage and scale (see Image 13 and Image 14).

8.0 STATEMENT OF CULTURAL HERITAGE VALUE OR INTEREST

Introduction and Description of Property

171 Church Street is located on the east side of Church Street in the Town of Newmarket. The property consists of a one-and-a-half storey Gothic Revival house. The residence was constructed circa 1876.

Statement of Cultural Heritage Value or Interest

Physical/Design Value

171 Church Street is a representative example of a Gothic Revival style house. Typical of the Gothic Revival style is the house's cross-gable roof, the sharply pitched gables on the façade and finely scaled gingerbread trim with pendants. The house displays a high degree of craftsmanship in the gingerbread trim and Victorian bay window in the projecting gable end. The bay window has wood frame detailing including decorative brackets, between which are small shields with cross detail. The building features an entryway with transom and sidelights. A porch with a wooden railing wraps around from the façade to the north elevation and is supported by round wooden columns. The south elevation features a square window opening with a stained glass window.

Historical and Associative Value

171 Church Street is associated with Erastus Jackson, a prominent local politician, land owner and owner of the Newmarket Era newspaper. Jackson, along with E.R. Henderson, purchased the New Era newspaper in 1853, but he became the sole owner of the paper by 1854. The paper was renamed the Newmarket Era in 1861. Jackson sold the paper to his son Lyman Jackson in 1883 and retired in 1885. Erastus Jackson held various offices in Newmarket, including as a member of municipal council in 1858, Reeve (1871–1876; 1877–1881), Mayor (1890 and 1891), coroner, Issuer of Marriage Licenses, president of the Mechanics Institute, treasurer of the North York Agricultural Society and president of the Canadian Press Association. In 1883, Jackson was appointed Warden of York County. Erastus Jackson also owned many properties: the 1910 census shows that Jackson owned ten properties at the time. He is also credited with the purchase of lands for and the development of the Newmarket Fairgrounds and market. Erastus Jackson and his second wife Sophia resided at 171 Church Street by 1894 until he sold the property to Wilmot C. Lundy in 1911. Erastus Jackson died at Newmarket on January 6, 1919.

Contextual Value

171 Church Street is important in supporting the character of Newmarket's residential historic core. The property is part of a row of historic homes and contributes to the streetscape of Church Street. The houses have similar setbacks, lot coverage and scale and their varying architectural styles (Edwardian, Georgian and Gothic Revival) add to the character of the street.

Cultural Heritage Attributes

The heritage attributes that contribute to the cultural heritage value or interest of 171 Church Street include, but are not limited to:

- One-and-a-half-storey Gothic Revival house;
- Cross-gable roof;
- Sharply pitched gables on the façade;

- Finely scaled gingerbread trim on the gables, including pendants;
- Three-bay window in the projecting gable end with wood frame detailing including decorative brackets, between which are small shields with cross detail;
- Stained glass window on the south elevation;
- Stone foundation;
- Situation close to the road; and
- Location on a street with other historic homes.

9.0 CONCLUSIONS

O. Reg. 9/06 of the OHA requires that to be designated, a property must meet one or more of the criteria grouped into the categories of design or physical value, historical or associative value, and contextual value. 171 Church Street meets the criteria for determining CHVI as outlined in O. Reg. 9/06.

The property possesses design or physical value as a representative example of a Gothic Revival style house with a high degree of craftsmanship; historical or associative value for its ties to Erastus Jackson, a prominent local politician, land owner and owner of the Newmarket Era newspaper; and contextual value for its contribution to the historic character of Church Street.

The Provincial Policy Statement notes that CHVI is bestowed upon cultural heritage resources by communities (MMAH 2014). Accordingly, the system by which heritage is governed in this province places emphasis on the decision-making of local municipalities in determining CHVI. It is hoped that the information presented in this report will be useful in those deliberations.
