Please use the space below to provide your written comments: My family lives on Timothy Street. We live in a century home that over the years has required upkeep and renovations. Timothy is a street with homes of various ages and conditions. Over time we have witnessed many requests for building permits some reasonable that meet bylaws and some that don't fall within current bylaws but are reasonable and others that want to demolish older homes with great character and then request permission to sever the lot and put up multiple homes for financial gain. Unfortunately we have lost too many great house lost with the result being upset neighbors and that become concerned when any renovation project is planned in their neighborhood. My understanding is that Interim Bylaw was put in place to help council control major changes that would impact an area of neighborhood in a negative way. My wife and I walk this town a lot and like to walk on Beechwood. We like the mix of older bungalows, side splits and two story homes with the newer more modern styles that have been built in the last few years. We viewed the proposed drawings for the renovation and don't see any problem with the design and how it will fit with that street. It actually looks like a good way to transition from the two very modern new homes with the raised bungalow on the other side. If the plans meet bylaws I dont see any reason to stop some one from improving their property and the neighborhood.
