Good morning Bob

While I appreciate that the proposed Mulock MUP which is being discussed at today's CoW is simply the start and further public input will be presented at a PIC I would like to provide my comments at this time with the hope that my concerns/questions could be addressed.

I have looked at the feasibility study being presented today and specifically at the recommended alignment option 1.

There are 2 spots where the proposed path makes little sense.

At the west end of Mulock the path suddenly takes a turn from the north side of the road at Columbus Way forcing cyclists to cross Mulock and continue on the south side for the last leg.

At the east end of Mulock just as we are approaching Newmarket High the MUP suddenly detours to the south side of the road, only to return to the north side at Leslie. Why are cyclists being forced to continually cross busy Mulock Rd?

Since it looks like about 85% of the proposed path is on the north side of Mulock, let's find a way to make it 100% and help keep cyclists safe.
